I just took a call from Jon Showalter who asked how firm our 30 day deadline was for submitting their bond. He said they're actively working on it, but he doesn't think they'll make it by January 17 and may not make it by the end of the month. I told him it was fine as long as they're not needing to expand into the new area right away, and he said that's at least three months away.
